What is Going On Tonight
Puritan Temple, No. 2, Pythian Sisters, K. of H.

HOLIDAY CLOSING

Mills Stop for Good Friday, But Will Run Extra Time Next Week.

The plant of the American Thread Co. shut down Wednesday night for laundry, and many of the other plants closed for the balance of the week. The Quindick-Windham company will run ten hours a day next week to make up the time lost, and the Holland Silk company, another plant which is closed, will run five ten hour days and a half day Saturday. The Windham Silk company and the Willimantic Machine company will run a fifty hour week next week, to make up some of the lost time of this holiday.

Post Easter Gaieties.

Social activities, which have been rather dull during the Lenten season, will open in full swing next week, the annual ball of the Knights of Columbus starting the round.

Few Changes Probable at Post Office. There has been considerable discussion around town as to what changes would be made at the post-office with the change of postmasters. Many were of the opinion that the assistant postmaster was not under the civil service, but the latest ruling on the subject puts him, with others of his class, in the service. In fact, all but two of the minor positions at the local office are civil service positions, so that not many changes will be made, if any.

Banquet for Players and Aids.
The cast who successfully put "on the boards" "Lant's Luck," last month under the auspices of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the A. O. H., together with those who assisted in the production, enjoyed a banquet at Le-Claire's hotel, South Windham, Thursday evening. The party went down on the seven twenty-five trolley and spent a very pleasant evening.

Patrolmen on New Shifts.
The regular monthly shifts of the beats of patrolmen of the police department took place Thursday noon, and the new beats are as follows:

Day Duty, Officer Ender: Sodom beat, Officer Manley; Jackson street beat, Officer Grady; Main street, Officer Paulhus; center beat, Officer MacArthur.

Play Repeated.
The members of the Grex and Sodalitas clubs, who took part in the play, "The Time of His Life," recently staged at the Congregational church house with such splendid effect, journeyed by automobile to Andover Thursday evening, where the play was repeated in conjunction with an April first party held by the young people of that section.

Emeralds to Play Ben Hurs.
The last basketball game of the season for the strong local team, the Emeralds, will be held tonight with the Ben Hurs of Hartford as their opponents. Each of the teams has won from the other once this season, and the closing match should prove a hard struggle. Recently the Ben Hurs have defeated the Emeralds of New Britain, the team which holds a hoodoo over the Emeralds, and the local boys will have to best themselves to walk away with the bacon. One of the largest crowds of the season should turn out, if for no more than to compliment the calibre of the local boys and the fine contests they have put up during the year.

"WHEREWITHALL"
Everybody needs it, of course.

Everybody is going to need it more in the future, too; when the earning capacity is less than during youth or middle-age.

The best way to be sure to have some THEN is to save a little NOW—a little at a time, but that little often.

OBITUARY.
Louis Burnham.
Louis Burnham died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clarence Watson, on the Old Mystic road, Tuesday afternoon as the result of a shock. He had been a resident of Mystic for a long time. He was born June 1841, the son of Bolton and Melton Burnham. He leaves eight children—Mrs. Eugene Goodwin of Mystic, Fred Burnham of Westerly, Mrs. Clarence Watson of Old Mystic, Frank Burnham of Mystic, Peter Burnham of Westerly, Mrs. William Gleason of Mystic, Mrs. Robert Clarke of Salem, Mass., and Joseph Burnham of Mystic.

In a Few Words.
Mrs. Jessie Williams has returned to Jersey City after several weeks' stay with Mrs. John E. Williams. Stonington lodge, No. 28, I. O. O. F. met Wednesday evening and conferred the third degree on a class.
Mrs. Elizabeth Chappell spent Wednesday in Bradford, R. I.

Miss Annie Felver of Plain Opera house Thursday evening, brought together a representative company of Masons, their wives, sweethearts and friends. It was the forty-ninth annual celebration, commemorating the founding of the order in Jewett City and grooved an unequalled success.

The curtain rose for the program at 8 o'clock and with the exception of Mr. Graham, the numbers were presented by home artists. The first selections, Bits of Remick's Hits, and The Candy Shop, were admirably played by the Blou orchestra of six pieces. The ladies' quartette, Mrs. F. D. Balfour, Mrs. G. H. Prior, Mrs. B. R. Gardner, Mrs. E. H. Hiscos, sang "Forget-

Me-Not, Th Geise, arranged by Hans Lichter. Their shading and fine interpretation gave much pleasure to their hearers. Charles Mackay sang A Perfect Day, by Carrie Jacobs-Bond. His singing never fails to please. The skill of G. H. Prior as an entertainer is well known to local audiences. In his new feature of Rag Pictures, he even excelled his former attainments as a crayon artist. Mrs. L. G. Buckingham, in her selections I Hear Thrush at Eve, by Cadman and Boat Song by A. Murray Mackay of Scotland sang to please, as she always does.

F. D. Ballou sang I Mind the Day, by Charles Willeby, a fine selection, and finely rendered. Ralph Brown Graham, the ventriloquist and sleight-of-hand man, was very interesting and was a pleasing addition to the program. He was original and skilful and for the first time delighted a Mammalian audience.

The entire program was one of excellence, and if applause was ever indicative of appreciation it was evidenced Thursday evening.

The grand march, with Worshipful Master and Mrs. E. E. Gilbert as the leading couple, moved at a little after 9 o'clock. Later a dance program of 20 numbers was successfully conducted.
